

LAS PEÑAS

PROGRAM INFO

This is ideal for families, small groups of friends and corporate outings

LOCATION

Perfectly situated between the two most prized dove roosts in Cordoba, Las Peñas Program offers superb shooting year-round. It is 1.10 hours driving from the airport; just close by to Las Peñas City on national road number 9.

The hunting lodge itself is a client favorite, and over the years, has drawn plenty of critical acclaim from industry insiders. The lodge has been completely renovated in 2010 to meet the absolute highest standards of excellence. Today, it is better than ever, offering high-volume Argentina dove hunting at its very best, excellent private lodging and superior service.

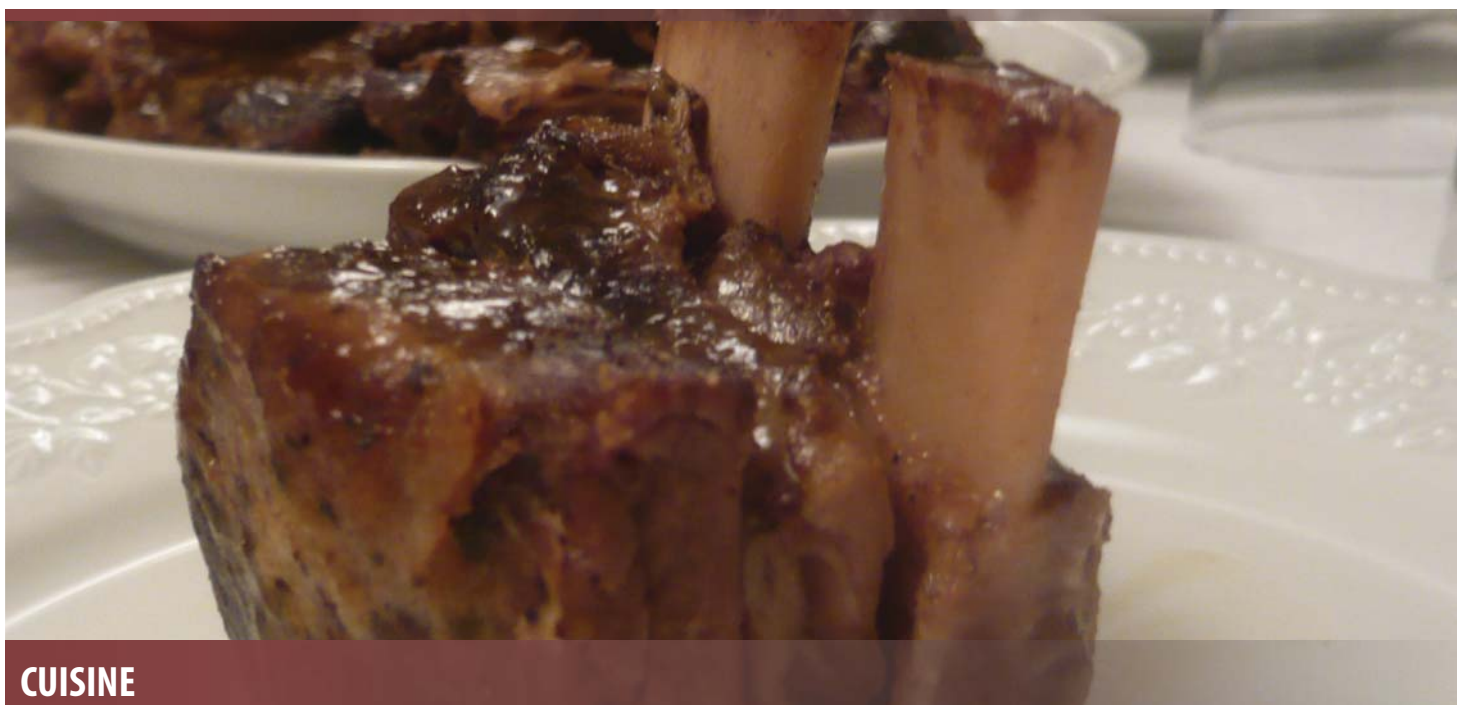

ACCOMODATIONS

The Lodge perfectly blends the charm of “old-world” Argentina with contemporary luxury, and offers 5-star amenities seldom found at hunting lodges. The Lodge sits on an immaculately-kept boutique estancia, and has an inglenook den, an outdoor fire pit lounge and a formal dining area. But the most famous feature is its rustic yet elegant “Gaucho Bar.” This bar was built over 150 years ago, providing guests with the perfect setting for cocktail hours, poker games and sharing stories about the day’s hunt. A heated jacuzzi/pool was added in 2013 and makes for a great way to end the day after a high-volume shoot.

The lodge has six well-appointed double-occupancy suites, each with queen-sized beds, a private bathroom, air conditioning and fireplace. Though The Lodge can comfortably accommodate up to 12 guests, groups of 4 or more can privately reserve the entire lodge.

CUISINE

Enjoy our gourmet cuisine every night after your shooting day; our professional chef will delight you with amazing Argentineans and international dishes. You have to experience our special goat or lamb "a la cruz"; that is a very local and well known way to prepare this unique delicatessen. Normally it takes more than three hours on the fire, to get it tender and amazingly tastily.

The Lodge hunters are treated to white-glove service, fine dining, wonderful regional wines and the warmest Argentine hospitality. We have been improving our menu for all our repeater clients.

Specie

The dove you will shoot is known as eared dove, a similar bird to the mourning dove that habit in US. This bird has a dark patch of feather on the side of the bird's upper cheek that looks like an ear, and that explain his name. This bird's hatch in between 3 to 5 times a year depending on the food.

Season

. All year round

THE FIELDS

In the Northern Cordoba you will find out that 70% of the time we shoot in the hills. It is a very dry area with rocks and short hills, full of mid high bushes with thorns that make the terrain tough but not impossible. The 30% per cent of the times we shoot fields with crops or natural grass very easy to stalk.

The birds normally leave the roosting area with the first light of the day. They fly average 40 to 60 miles for food. The fields shooting options, depending time of the year, are:

- 1) Shooting the flyways: that means a point in between roosting area and feeding field.
- 2) the fields: harvest crops, like soy bean, corn, or sorghum (specially march to may).
- 3) feed lots: Birds concentrate for crops in big feed lots, and are great shooting options some times of the year (march to july).
- 4) Water holes: Especially in summer time are great shooting options (October to april).
- 5) Roosting areas: when the birds leave the main roosting area and stay in momentary roosting fields, we have the option to shoot them there with out affecting their main roosting place. During the hatching time you will see them flying both directions.

OVERVIEW

With exclusive rights to many of Cordoba's most revered dove hunting properties, in the sierra area and the flat lands, the eared dove population is upwards of 50 million birds. It is similar in appearance to the North American mourning dove. Cordoba is known as capital of dove shooting. It means: Non stop shooting.
